Africa

Chou En-lai, Premier:

The Chinese and African peoples have formed a profound friendship in their protracted common struggles. The Chinese people will, as always, firmly support the African peoples in their struggles against imperialism, colonialism, neo-colonialism, racism, hegemonism and Zionism, firmly support the African countries in their struggles to defend national independence and state sovereignty and develop their normal economies and cultures, and firmly support the peoples of Southern Africa and other regions of the continent that are not yet independent in their struggles for national independence and freedom.

Jen-min Jih-pao Editorial:

.....In the struggle against imperialism, colonialism and neo-colonialism, the Chinese people and the people of Africa have always sympathized with and encouraged each other and there exists a profound friendship between them. The Chinese people will unswervingly support the African people in their just struggle against imperialism, colonialism and neo-colonialism, against racism, hegemonism and Zionism....

Cambodia

Jen-min Jih-pao Commentator's Article:

Since the signing of the Paris Agreement on Viet Nam, the United States has never stopped its aggression and intervention against Cambodia and has continued to support the Lon Nol traitorous clique and give it military aid. Particularly serious is the unceasing US dispatch of large number of aircraft including B-52s to conduct indiscriminate bombing attacks on Cambodia and the intensification of all kinds of military actions. This is the basic reason why the Cambodian issue has not been settled up to now. The United States must immediately stop its bombing raids on Cambodia, cease giving the Lon Nol clique all kinds of aid, withdraw from Cambodia US military personnel and all non-Cambodian military personnel who are in the service of the United States, respect scrupulously the independence, sovereignty, unification, territorial integrity and neutrality of Cambodia and let the Cambodian people solve their own problems themselves without any foreign interference.

NCNA Dispatch:

.... Why, at a time when complete victory is in sight in the Cambodian people's struggle against US aggression and for national salvation, should the Soviet revisionists have gone so far as to turn facts upside down and confuse right and wrong? What are their motives? To put it bluntly, the Soviet revisionists' deliberate distortion of the nature of the Cambodian war and their slanders against the Cambodian people's struggle as a "fratricidal war" are obviously aimed at sabotaging the Cambodian people's struggle against US aggression and for national salvation in a vain attempt to make the Cambodian people lay down their weapons so as to prop up the tottering rule of the Lon Nol clique. The "political settlement" of the Cambodian issue peddled by the Soviet revisionists is an effort of coordination with the peace talk fraud hatched by US imperialism and the Lon Nol clique, an effort to split the patriotic Cambodian forces.

Denmark

Chi Peng-fei, Foreign Minister:

We are glad to see that the relations between China and Denmark are developing healthily on the basis of the five principles of mutual respect for sovereignty and territorial integrity, mutual non-aggression, non-interference in each other's internal affairs, equality and mutual benefit, and peaceful co-existence. ....All nations, big or small, have their own strong and weak points; they should respect each other's independence and sovereignty, treat each other as equals and learn from each other. No nation, however strong it might be, should be permitted to bully others. However small a country may be, so long as it does not yield to foreign pressures but dares to stand up against power politics and hegemonism, relies on its own people and constantly exerts itself, it will certainly be able to win for itself a bright future and respect by the whole world.

Greece

Li Hsien-nien, Vice Premier:

China and Greece have different social systems, but we shared the common lot of being subjected to foreign aggression and oppression and economically both our countries have long remained comparatively backward. Today, we both need to safeguard state independence and sovereignty and speed up the economic construction of our respective countries. With these common experience and desires, our two peoples have always sympathized with and supported each other in our struggles. The Chinese government and people have consistently held that all nations, big or small, have their own characteristics and strong points and that they should respect each other, treat each other as equals and learn from each other. The affairs of a given country can only be handled by its own people, and no other country has the right to interfere. We are firmly opposed to hegemonism and power politics of the big bullying the small and the strong bullying the weak.

Luxembourg

Chi Peng-fei, Foreign Minister:

Although China and Luxembourg are far apart in distance and different in social system, our two countries have common experience in resisting aggression and our two peoples support and sympathize with each other. I believe it is easy for us to find common language on such questions of principle as opposing power politics and hegemonism, advocating equality among all nations, big or small, strong or weak, and maintaining that the internal affairs of a country should be run by the people of that country themselves and that other countries have no right to interfere.

Mali

Jen-min Jih-pao Editorial:

China and Mali are thousands of miles apart, but our two countries have the common experience of suffering from imperialist aggression and oppression in the past and we face the common task today of fighting against imperialism and building up our respective countries. The people of our two countries have sympathized with and supported each other and, in the course of protracted common struggle, have established a profound friendship between them. Our two countries have in recent years constantly consolidated and developed friendly cooperation in political, economic, cultural and other fields in accordance with the five principles of peaceful co-existence.

Sri Lanka

Hsu Hsiang-chien, Special Envoy to Sri Lanka:

.... Prime Minister Sirimavo Bandaranaike's proposal for declaring the Indian Ocean as a zone of peace reflects the common desire of Afro-Asian countries to safeguard their national independence and state sovereignty against foreign aggression and expansion. The Chinese government firmly supports this just stand and considers that the countries concerned should respect the "declaration of the Indian Ocean as a zone of peace" adopted by the United Nations General Assembly at its 25th session. The Chinese people will forever stand together with you and the other peoples of the Third World in the struggle against hegemonism and power politics. ....Facts have shown that China-Sri Lanka friendship is in conformity with the fundamental interests of our two peoples, and there are broad prospects for its development. The Chinese people will, as always, work together with the Sri Lanka people for the continuous consolidation and development of China-Sri Lanka friendship.

Huang Shu-tse, Head of Chinese Delegation to 26th World Health Assembly Meeting:

.... Through the practice of protracted revolutionary struggles, the Chinese people have come to realize that only with complete political and economic independence can broad prospects be opened for the development of national public health services. ....We stand for the normal development of medical exchanges and cooperation between countries. This is conducive not only to the further development of the medical and public health services of all countries and the common improvement of the people's health conditions, but also to the promotion of mutual understanding and friendship between peoples.
